Subject: update its definition of "Research and Development" as a land use.

For the upcoming planning commission meeting, I would like to add my voice to those supporting the city updating its definition of "Research and Development" as a land use.

The main point is the more friendly the codes can be for the emerging economy, the more jobs can be created along with their ancillary effect of Increasing retail demand.

I know the Commission understands this and I applaud them taking on, bit by bit, the ridged and anti-growth zoning in West Berkeley.

Be well and happy holidays.
